

The only drawer from Fabricius' collection left in its original condition. To the left it contains the last of the Staphylinidae, to the right some unidentified material,