

EXPLANATION OF PLATE I

Tetramorium caespitum (Linnaeus), Figs. 1-11.—1, head in anterior view,  $\times 95$ ; 2, left mandible in medial view,  $\times 216$ ; 3, left mandible in anterior view (shaded to show thickness),  $\times 216$ ; 4-6, three types of body hairs,  $\times 185$ ; 7, worker larva in side view,  $\times 24$ ; 8, head hair of queen larva,  $\times 340$ ; 9-11, three types of body hairs of queen larva,  $\times 185$ .

Xiphomyrmex turneri Forel, Figs. 12-15.—12, head in anterior view (immature larva),