

Fig. 4. — Three Myrmoteras toro workers feeding on a mosquito (drawn from a photograph).

Abb. 4. — Drei M. toro Arbeiterinnen fressen an einem Moskito (nach einer Fotografie gezeichnet).

M. toro workers regurgitated to larvae, as presumably did M. barbouri workers. The larvae were never supplied with solid food, and they did not feed on freshly crushed prey I dropped before them. The gynes of both Myrmoteras species ignored all food and water placed before them, and apparently fed exclusively by regurgitation with workers.
